Good Suggestion.

The Danville Messenger suggests that President Lawrence call an extra session of the Kentucky Press Association and all go to Florida and be guests of Lew Brown, Clarence Woods and W. P. and E. C. Walton for the next month or so.

And They Were Wed.

A young drummer named H. T. Baker got a one-dollar bill in change at a Lexington hotel in 1910 upon which he found the name of "Hattie Daisy Morris, Louisville, Ky." Baker wrote to the young lady and they married last Saturday.

The Latest.

The latest social wrinkle is a "white elephant party," to which each lady guest is invited to bring something that she has no use for, but is too good to throw away. Eleven husbands attended one of these social functions here.—Elizabethtown News.

Mexican Veteran Dead.

The last Mexican veteran of Nicholas passed away in the death of Jno. Martin, aged 82, at his home near Headquarters, that county, after a long illness. He was the father of Dr. Wm. H. Martin, a well-known physician of Oakdale Mills, Nicholas county.

Isn't It The Truth?

Some men are very forgetful of the kind words spoken of them by others and the interest manifested in their welfare. But the world is full of ingrates and the best way to treat them is whenever they stick up their heads for public favor, whack it off.—Nicholasville News.

Gus Eastin's Estate.

The will of Gus Eastin, the widely-known turfman, was admitted to probate last week at Lexington. The estate is valued at about $100,000, most of which was in stocks and bonds. The Security Trust Company qualified as executor by giving bond of $75,000. Special bequests, aggregating $30,000, were made to nephews and nieces. The remainder of the estate is to be divided equally between his grand-niece, Mrs. Annie Lou Chick Smith, with whom he made his home, her son, Augustin Eastin Smith, and his grand nephew, Geo. C. Chick.

Both Mr. Eastin and the beneficiaries under his will are well known in this section of Kentucky.

Scene from "Excuse Me" at Grand Opera House Tuesday, March 17

It Costs Money.

The mansion cost almost $100,000. On the first floor are six rooms and seven on the second. The first floor will attract the most attention, as on it are located the ball-room, the banquet hall, two drawing rooms, Gov. McCreary's private office his private dining-room and the ante-room to his office, which is but a part of the expansive hallways. Now, Rube, what kind of a house do you live in? Thirteen rooms, costing nearly $8,000 each is a fine place for your Governor to live in. What the devil do the taxpayers want with a ball room at Frankfort? What do they want a banquet hall for anyway? It's a wonder they don't have a big room for the chaplain to hold forth in while the crowd in the ball room is dancing and the crowd in the banquet hall are drinking their extra fine wines. Dancing, drinking and preaching all going on in the Governor's mansion at once. And the whole paid for by you, dear Rube.—Burnside Item.

What would you have, the log cabin of your friend Reuben?

Fares to be Reduced by The L. & N.

A reduction of one-half a cent a mile for passenger fares on the Louisville & Nashville railroad in Kentucky was announced by W. A. Russell, passenger traffic manager, at Louisville.

Possibly as early as April 1, certainly not later than May 1, according to the announcement, the rate on the L. & N. and on all branches and new lines, except those on which the present passenger rate is not remunerative, the fare will be reduced from three cents to two and one-half cents a mile.

This reduction applies both to intrastate and interstate traffic. Combined with similar reductions in Tennessee and in Alabama, it establishes practically a two and one-half-cent rate from the Ohio river to the Gulf of Mexico.

It is estimated that this rate reduction will affect the passenger revenues in Kentucky in the sum of $130,000 a year on interstate traffic and the total cut in passenger revenue for the three States of Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama is estimated at $900,000 a year through this reduction of half a cent.

A Preacher's Wife.

The following may be a new law enacted by the Kentucky Legislature. We refer it to the probe committee:

"The minister's wife ought to be selected by a committee of the church. She should be warranted never to have headache or neuralgia; she should have nerves of wire and sinews of iron; she should never be tired. She should be cheerful and intellectual; pious and domestic; she should be able to keep her husband's house, darn his socks, make his shirts, cook his dinner and copy his sermons. She should keep up the style of a lady on the wages of a day laborer, and be always at leisure for "good works" and ready to receive morning calls. She should be secretary of the Band of Hope and president of the ladies' missionary society; she should conduct Bible classes and mothers' meetings; should make clothing for the poor and gruel for the sick; and, finally, she should be pleased with everybody and everything, and never desire any reward beyond the satisfaction of having done her own duty—and that of other people's, too.

An Eloquent Passage.

Probably of all the beautiful and eloquent passages ever written by the inimitable George D. Prentice, the following is the finest:

"It cannot be that earth is man's final resting-place. It cannot be that our life is a bubble cast by eternity to float a moment upon its waves and then sink into nothingness. Else why is it that the high and glorious aspirations which leap like angels from the temple of our hearts are forever wandering unsatisfied? Why is it that the rainbow and cloud come over us with a beauty that is not of earth, and then pass off to leave us to muse on their loveliness? Why is it that the stars which 'hold their festival around the midnight throne' are set above the grasp of our limited faculties, forever mocking us with their unapproachable glory? And, finally, why is it that bright forms of human beauty are presented to our view and taken from us, leaving the thousand streams of our affection to flow back in an Alpine torrent upon our hearts? There is a realm where the rainbow never fades; where the stars will be spread out before us like the islands that slumber on the ocean, and where the beautiful beings which pass before us like shadows will stay forever in our presence."

IT'S THE DIFFERENCE THAT COUNTS. There's a difference in the way different motor cars run; a difference in appearance, a difference in what they can go and where they can't, and a difference in the cost of operation. It's the difference the careful buyer wants to know about.

A Buick car is built in the Buick shops and means better materials and better workmanship at a minimum cost, a combination which gives the Buick owner the most for his money.

A Buick owner is the most satisfied owner in the world. He can't go any distance at all without finding a Buick dealer—if he wants one. And the Buick sign is always a sign of good treatment.

OUR HOME WOMEN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Next time you go to theatre or to the "movies" just notice, if you please, how many of our home ladies have beautiful hair—glossy, lustrous, and well-dressed. Then, if you will pick out five or ten of those whose hair seems to be particularly pretty and will ask them what they use on it, we feel sure that at least more than half of them will say "Harmony Hair Beautifier." It is fast becoming the rage with both men and women who are particular about the appearance of their hair.

Sprinkle a little Harmony Hair Beautifier on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair. If they can say—if they can't—He did his best, he played the man; His arm was straight, his motives clean; His conduct not unkind or mean; He loved his fellowmen, and tried To help them—"I'll be satisfied.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00; Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Retail Stores, and in this town only by us—H. L. Perry's Drug Store, Richmond, Ky.

Put Your Money in Bank.

James Dobson's home at Hazard was burned last week and besides his dwelling and household goods, he lost $9,000 which he had hid away in the building. A person is very foolish to keep much money about the house. Put it in the bank. It will be safe, and you can get it when you want it.

P. S.—The banks are not paying us for this ad. It's simply good advice we are giving our readers, and, if followed, may save you your roll.—Pineville Sun.

A lazy liver leads to chronic dyspepsia and constipation,—weakens the whole system. Can's Regulets (25c per box) act mildly on the liver and bowels. At all drug stores.—Adv. mar.

Keep Calm.

Calm down! Nothing is so bad or so hard as it might be, anyhow. Nature is always on your side and nature is always ready to help. Look your task, your trouble, square in the face and calm y take it. It isn't as easy as it sounds, but it's a lot easier than it seems. The first light you see may be a dim flicker, but many a roaring fire visible for miles has been started by the glowing end of a parlor match. From the flicker to the flare isn't such a long step—if you keep calm.—The Harrodsburg Leader.

A Tobacco Suggestion.

A tobacco grower writes a letter to the Georgetown News in which he makes a suggestion that is worth considering by farmers who are engaged in the production of "the weed." He says it would work both to the interest of the landlord and tenant to "keep the common, tail-end of the crop off the market entirely. If, the tobacco," he says, "which sells for less than four cents could be kept off the market by some plan worked out between the landlord and tenant, it would be to the benefit and profit of both. It costs as much to strip and market this common stuff as it does the good tobacco and it proves about a clear loss to the tenant." As to a possible use of this poor quality of tobacco, the grower says it could be used for fertilizing the land, "instead of giving it to the manufacturer at a price less than cost of stripping and handling." There is undoubtedly a large amount of poor stuff put on the market which serves no good purpose. The Scott county grower's suggestion probably will fall on deaf ears, but it merely bears out what we have said repeatedly—that too many tobacco growers go in for quantity rather than quality.

When I Am Gone.

When I am dead, if man can say: "He helped the world upon its way; With all his faults of word or deed, Mankind did have some little need Of what he gave"—then in my grave No greater honor shall I crave.

If they can say—if they can't—He did his best, he played the man; His arm was straight, his motives clean; His conduct not unkind or mean; He loved his fellowmen, and tried To help them—"I'll be satisfied.

And when I'm gone, if even one Can weep because my life is done, And feel the world is sometimes bare Because I am no longer there—Call me fool, my life misspent, No matter, I shall rest content.

If I have helped a single soul Along life's road to heaven's goal Of happiness by word or thought—For even a moment I have brought A brief respite to writhing pain, I surely have not lived in vain.

If I have lacked, in age or youth, True Friendship, loyal Love and Truth, And failed to practice what we preach Within the lodge or out of reach, Yet if I've brought to the Three-Link fold But one true man 'tis more than gold!

Killing Fish.

The United States government may be doing a good act in ridding the Kentucky river of stumps and stags, but last week hundreds of sticks of dynamite were let go in the river near Fork and hundreds of pounds of fish were killed. Natives along the river were busy picking up most any size from the small fry to the twenty pounders, mostly white perch. It is a shame that Uncle Sam's men on these dredge boats are allowed to kill millions of fish each year. Kentucky streams with dynamite.

From Force of Habit.

Waiter—"How will you have your steak, sir?" Minister (absent-minded)—"Well done good and faithful servant!"

CIVILIZATION STRIPS FOR FIGHT AGAINST PLAGUES.

"The Outlook" Numbers Alcohol Among the Enemies of Society.

"Civilization has stripped for a life-and-death struggle with tuberculosis, alcohol and other plagues," says THE OUTLOOK in its issue of February 6.

Business has tackled the drink question with a strictly business grip. Business is awake to the truth that the man who drinks is lessening his brain power and lowering the standard of his efficiency. Iron-clad rules against drink are now laid down everywhere on economic grounds alone.

The greatest investment any drinking man can make is to take the Neal Treatment. It will quickly change craving desire for liquor into dislike for everything alcoholic. Three days at the Cincinnati Neal Institute means added health, happiness, length of days and added earning capacity—all of which are only part of the fearful toll paid by every one in the relentless grip of the drink habit.

The world is getting wise to the economic havoc played by alcohol. During the past month, at the rate of over one a day, drinkers have gone to the Neal Institute and come out teetotalers with no more desire than for red ink.

It will pay any drinker to investigate. Spend three days in the privacy of the Capt. C. M. Holloway homestead, now the Neal Institute. They will prove three days that will yield great dividends for investment of so little time—dividends in the shape of happiness restored to home, self and friends.

For literature, write or phone to The Neal Institute, 601 Maple avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Why Girls Don't Marry.

There are 750,000 men and women in New York under 35, most of them under 30, who are not married, and, so far as appearances go, do not intend to get married. Go into any theatre in any large American city and note the rows of young women sitting together and the corresponding groups of men. Why are they not coupled off, as in the smaller circles? Simply because the modern girl has developed an extravagance that the young man refuses to stand for. She must have a $2 seat; she expects a box of American Beauties with it; if the weather is bad, a taxi is required, and if her escort does not take her to a lobster palace after the show, he is regarded as a "cheap one." And the same things go on after marriage, even if the husband's salary is small. He must go on working, of course, but she to be henceforth a lady. She must have her maid, her laundress, her dressmaker and she frets because she has no auto. And when the poor devil at his desk begins to show a waning enthusiasm over married life, she suspects that there is another woman in the case!—Thos. Van Buren, in Leslie's.

CHILDREN'S KIDNEYS

No Richmond Mother Should Neglect The Little One's Health.

Often times weak kidneys cause great annoyance and embarrassment to children. Inability to control the kidney secretions, at night or while at play, is attributed to carelessness and too frequently the child is punished. Parents having children troubled with kidney weakness would do well to treat the kidneys with a tested and proven kidney remedy. If there is pain in the back, discolored urine, irregular urination, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, try Doan's Kidney Pills at once. A remedy that has been used in kidney troubles for over 50 years and has been recommended by thousands. Proof of merit in a Richmond citizen's statement.

Mrs. W. T. Mansfield, 131 South Estill avenue, Richmond, Ky., says: "One of our children suffered from pains in the back and other symptoms of weak kidneys. There was little control over the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills put a stop to the trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-McBurn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Costly Practice.

We regret very much to see a tendency on the part of many members of the General Assembly to "grandstand" before the people by opposing banks, railroads, insurance companies and capital generally. Corporations must be regulated, but they ought to be treated fairly. It requires foreign capital to develop our natural resources, and if the impression gets well circulated that fair treatment is not to be had in Kentucky, the progress of our State will be greatly retarded.—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

To feel strong, have good appetite and digestion, sleep soundly and enjoy life, use Burdock Blood Bitters, the family system tonic. Price $1.—Adv. mar.

A Splendid Recommendation

The Georgetown Times says: Here is some good news for the boys of the corn clubs: The Department of Agriculture has recommended that a year's course in practical training at some agricultural college be submitted in place of the annual trips to Washington for the young prize winners of the corn, canning, poultry and other agricultural clubs. In case the winner's academic training has not been sufficient to enable him to enter the State Agricultural College, the department suggests an elementary course of instruction in institutions teaching less advanced work. Such courses of study would certainly have more lasting value to the prize winners than a short trip to Washington. It would also be of much more value to the agricultural interests of the State. The recommendation is a good one and should be carried out.

Stubborn, Annoying Coughs Cured.

"My husband had a cough for fifteen years and my son for eight years. Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured them, for which I am most thankful," writes Mrs. David Moor, of Saginaw, Ala. What Dr. King's New Discovery did for these men, it will do for you. Dr. King's New Discovery should be in every home. Stops hacking coughs, relieves the grippe and all throat and lung ailments. Money back if it fails. All druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.—Adv. mar.

RHEUMA WILL STOP URIC ACID DEPOSIT

Rheumatic Complications Check ed And The "Human Sewers" Restored.

The Kidneys, Bowels and Skin are the "human sewers" which carry off the impurities in the blood. When these are clogged Uric Acid sediment lodges in the muscles and joints and Rheumatism follows. RHEUMA, the great remedy for all forms of the terrible disease, checks the deposit of Uric Acid.

"I suffered from Rheumatism for six years. Tried different doctors, with no relief. I have taken three bottles of RHEUMA and am entirely free from the disease."—P. W. Miller, Catawissa, Pennsylvania.

Poor Men!

Married men are always in debt, because they have families to keep up and unmarried men are in the same fix because they haven't any. So a man, be he married or single, is between the devil and the deep blue sea, in so far as debt is concerned, during these good times when the prices of living are so high.

Chicken Month.

March may properly be called the "chicken month," as it is usually the season when more chickens are hatched out than in any other month. Some enterprising housekeepers already have "taken off" a few, while they have their hens and incubators on the job for still more.

Falling Hair And Itching Scalp

Needless—Use Parisian Sage

Now that Parisian Sage can be had at any drug counter it is certainly needless to have thin brittle, matted, stringy or faded hair. No matter how unsightly the hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage is all that is needed. Frequent applications and well rubbed into the scalp will do wonders—it acts like magic. The hair roots are nourished and stimulated to grow new hair, itching scalp, dandruff and falling hair cease—your head feels fine. Best of all, the hair becomes soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life and beauty.

You will be surprised and delighted with Parisian Sage. Try at least one fifty cent bottle from H. L. Perry's Drug Store, and he will refund the purchase price if you are not satisfied. 2c.

She Suggested a Reason.

A noted Sunday-school worker was once asked to talk to the children of a Sunday school on the subject of temperance. He is very earnest in the cause and wears a bit of blue ribbon as a badge of his principles. Rising before the school, he pointed to his piece of blue ribbon and said, "Now, can any of you children give me a reason why I am not a drunkard?" There was no reply for a moment. Then a shrill little voice in the rear of the room piped out, "Cause this is a prohibition town."

All Growing Children

are dependent on nourishment for growth. Their health as men and women is largely established in childhood.

If your child is languid, bloodless, tired when rising, without ambition or rosy cheeks, Scott's Emulsion is a wonderful help. It possesses nature's grandest body-building fats so delicately predigested that the blood absorbs its strength and carries it to every organ and tissue and fibre.

First it increases their appetite, then it adds flesh—strengthens the bones—makes them sturdy, active and healthy. No alcohol or narcotic in Scott's Emulsion, just purity and strength.

"Excuse Me."

S. T. King is offering the Rupert Hughes' farce, "Excuse Me," at the Grand Opera House, Monday, March 17.
"Excuse Me" is a farce among farces.
It strikes out from the beaten track and is full of true humor. It is a laugh and it is remarkable for its novel and ludicrous situations, its diverting characters, its unusually amusing dialogue. Any effort to recite the incidents of so crowded and amusing piece must be hopeless.
Mr. Hughes has missed no chance to make fun. His characters have reality in them, and his play moves quickly he has wrung every drop of humor out of railway travel, he displays a truly amazing ingenuity and resourcefulness. That "Excuse Me" is a rare entertainment is proven by its success. New York showed tumultuous delight at this farce that sets forth the adventures of Pullman car passengers on a trip across the continent. "Excuse Me" is a journey by rail from Chicago to Reno. Much of its humor lies in its probability. The author has devised a series of screamingly funny incidents that might actually occur to any train load of passengers, and his characters are as true to life as if they had really stepped up to the ticket window and purchased transportation to Reno. The various characters work out the different stories that unite in a highly interesting and amusing comedy, with lively action and up-to-date light romance and adventures. A play that runs nine months in New York must be well acted, so there is no doubt as to the calibre of the company that will be seen in "Excuse Me." The local public should consider the quality of this offering. It is the biggest laugh hit of the time, a genuine Broadway success.

In point of cast and production, "Excuse Me" excels anything of a comic offering now before the public. In the leading role, is Mr. Willis P. Sweat-man as the Pullman porter, a character by him and played by Mr. Sweatman over one thousand times. He is surrounded by as clever aggregation of players as ever stepped on a local stage.

LEXINGTON OPERA HOUSE

Great Spectacle Coming To Lexington

"JOSEPH AND HIS BRETHREN"

The third of the Century Theatre dramatic spectacles, "Joseph and His Brethren," will come to the Lexington Opera House, April 13, 14 and 15. In some respects it is built on a larger scale than either of its predecessors, for it has twelve scenes where "The Garden of Allah" had only eight. There are more than sixty speaking parts. Its success has been phenomenal.

"Joseph and His Brethren" is a vitalized version of the story in the Book of Genesis, written for the stage by Louis
N. Parker. Mr. Parker is known chiefly in America for his "Disraeli" and "Pamender Walk," but in England he is known as the author of many other successes, including "Drake," the hit of the last London season. "Drake" was given a spectacular production at His Majesty's Theatre by Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, who has also produced
"Joseph" there this season.

To present "Joseph and His Brethren," the Liebler Company has selected a cast of unusual ability. Brandon Tynan, who has been a star in his own plays and leading man for Nazimova, will play the role of Joseph. James O'Neill, of "Monte Christo" fame, will have the part of Jacob, the patriarch, and in the third act will play Pharaoh.
Pauline Fredericks, pronounced by artist Harrison Fisher the most beautiful woman in America, and numerous other players of reputation will be seen in the cast, while the heads of all technical departments of the Liebler Company who worked out and produced the so-called "effects" in the play, will accompany the big production here.

The company when traveling has almost the proportions of a circus, with its special train of fourteen cars for the people, scenery and live stock. Among the latter are herds of camels, oxen, asses, horses and sheep.

The four acts of "Joseph and His Brethren" will be known as "The Coat of Many Colors," "The Temptation,"
"The Dreams" and "The Deliverer." The scenes will be respectively: "The Tents of Shechem," "The Wells of Dothan," "Jacob's Tent," "The Entrance to Jacob's House," "The Pyramid" and
"In Joseph's House." 30 2t

Grand Opening.

At least four hundred people attended the grand opening last week of the Central Music Studio, on Third street, previous notice of which was given in the Climax. It was a gala afternoon and a rare treat to the music lovers of our city and county. Choice musical selections were rendered by skilled artists and the surroundings were most delightful and charming. The spacious apartments were artistically decorated and huge palms and ferns graced the building throughout. There were flowers for everybody. The opening was a grand success, and Messrs. Marshall, Green and Griffith, the promoters, are to be congratulated. Here's hoping success will ever be their.

DEATHS

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Burton, formerly of this city, was burned to death at Lexington last Tuesday. The remains were taken to Berea Friday and interred in the cemetery at that place. The sympathy of many friends here are extended to the bereaved parents in the death of their child.

Mr. Joseph White, an aged and respected citizen of Estill county, died at his home in East Irvine last week. He was 67 years old and his death was due to a growth on the back of his head. Deceased was a native of Estill county and for many years had charge of the lower ferry at Irvine. He was a jovial, whole-souled gentleman and had many friends in Madison who will regret to learn of his death.

Mrs. Harris Park died at her home on Boggs Lane, aged 74 years. Deceased had been an invalid for several years and her death, while a shock to her relatives and friends, was not unexpected. She is survived by her husband and several children. Her funeral was preached Monday morning by Rev. B. C. Horton, of the Methodist church, followed by interment in the Reagan burying ground on Barnes Mill pike.

Mr. Thomas Stevens, formerly a resident of this county, died at the home of his son, James Stevens, in Dayton, O., last Tuesday and was buried in that city. Mr. Stevens was born at Boonesboro, this county, and was a member of the prominent Stevens family that owned the historic Boonesboro fort. He is well remembered here by many old friends, who will learn with regret of his demise.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Langford have the tenderest sympathy of the entire community in the death Friday night of their seven months old daughter, Ella Lee Langford. The little one had been in delicate health for some time and the tenderest care and ministrations of loving parents could not prolong the life of the jewel that was loaned to them for a short period. The grief-stricken parents may find solace for their grief in the sublime injunction of Him who said: "Suffer the little ones to come unto me, for I will see them." Interment took place Saturday afternoon in Richmond Cemetery.

Friends of that estimable old lady were shocked and grieved to learn Saturday morning of the death the night before of Mrs. Jessie Bowling, who passed from earthly existence to a life eternal beyond the grave. Mrs. Bowling died at the home of Mrs. Laurena Pigg, at Union City, after an illness of only four or five days, she having contracted pneumonia, and her advanced age of 82 years was the great barrier in her battle with the ravages of that most treacherous disease. Deceased was a member of the Old Baptist church and was beloved by all who knew her. Mrs. Bowling was a daughter of Clayton Crawford and Susan Jett, and was the mother of six children, the eldest Richard Bowling, of Nashville, Tenn., who has held for 25 years the position of attorney for the L. & N. railroad. Her second daughter, Eliza, is the wife of Attorney Thos. Jackson, of Beattyville. Little is known of the deaths of the other children, but the youngest daughter, Isabel, is the wife of Dr. Stilling, of London. Mrs. M. C. Covington, a niece, and Mr. Wm. Jett, a nephew, of this county, also survive. The remains were taken to London for interment.

Last Friday morning we had a striking and painful example of the great fundamental truth that "death loves a shining mark," as at about 6:30 o'clock news reached this city from Corbin, apprising relatives and friends that Mr. John B. Kennedy (our John) had passed from earthly cares and trials to his eternal reward. On January 29, Mr. Kennedy left Richmond in the pink and bloom of health, strength, and sturdy young manhood for the land of "Sunshine and Flowers." He visited Jacksonville, Fla., and other points in Florida. After visiting many places in the Southland, he turned his eyes toward his "Old Kentucky Home," and started on his return trip to the land where the sun shines brightest, the sky the bluest, friends the truest, and those scenes nearest and dearest to him. Arriving in Knoxville, Tenn., he remained there a few days, and from that city he went to Middlesboro, Ky., where he spent ten days. Thursday night about 10:30 o'clock, he departed from Middlesboro and was homeward bound. While on the train he was taken ill. A physician was also on the train at the time and rendered every possible assistance. When the train reached Corbin, Mr. Kennedy was suffering intense pain, his stomach apparently being badly deranged. He was taken from the train and helped into the depot. While sitting in a posture in the depot, Mr. Kennedy sprang to his feet and clapped his hands to either side of his head and gave an awful shriek. Medical aid was summoned and two doctors responded to the call. He was given a hypodermic to allay his suffering. He was then carried to a nearby hotel and given every possible attention by the two attending physicians and others, the physicians remaining with him until death claimed its own about 6:30 o'clock Friday morning, as above stated. During the night Mr. Kennedy had seven convulsions, but during the intervals he was perfectly rational and conversed and joked freely with those about him. Upon learning of his death, many rumors were afloat as to the probable cause of his demise. Mr. Wearren Kennedy left on the noon train for Corbin, Friday, returning with the remains of his brother about 7 o'clock the same evening. Mr. Kennedy's death was technically, purely accidental, he having ruptured a blood vessel of the brain, superinduced by the severe strain while in a fit of vomiting. On reaching this city the remains were conveyed to the home of his brother, Mr. Wearren Kennedy, on Smith Ballard street, where funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, thence the burial in the Richmond Cemetery. Rev. E. B. Barnes, pastor of the First Christian church, performing the last sad rites. Deceased was the youngest child of Capt. Joseph H. Kennedy, now a State Guard at the Frankfort penitentiary, and would have been twenty-one years of age in May. His oldest brother, Frank, died just two years ago—in March, and his mother died in June following. John B. Kennedy was a commanding figure. He was a giant physically and intellectually. He was a young man of sterling worth, possessing rare and beautiful traits of character, popular with all and numbering his friends by the score. For several years he was employed by the Gibson Hospital, this city, and had a large acquaintance throughout the county and State. The large concourse at his funeral Sunday afternoon and the great profusion of floral offerings were a beautiful testimonial of the high esteem in which he was held by all. He did indeed offer a shining mark to the imitative archer. He is survived by his father, Captain Joseph H. Kennedy, of Frankfort: three sisters, Mrs. C. E. Galoway, of the county, Mrs. Leslie Tipton and Mrs. James Powell, and three brothers, Messrs. Jesse, Wearren and Willis Kenney, of this city, all of whom have the deepest sympathy of everyone in this their hour of deep sorrow.

The tender and deep sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Rice in the death of their beautiful little daughter, Abbie Davidson, a darling of only nine months. Death came Sunday night, after an illness of erysipelas, which continued for several weeks. All that loving, patient hands and skilled physicians could do was of no avail and the little soul was called back to the God who gave it, leaving a great break in a loving family circle, whose affection centered around the wee lamb of the flock. The remains were taken to Lancaster Tuesday morning for interment. May God in His goodness and mercy comfort the bereaved parents.

A telephone message from Lexington Monday afternoon conveyed the sad intelligence of the death at the Good Samaritan Hospital, in that city, of Hugh H. Tevis, one of Richmond's best-known young business men. The end came after a protracted illness of cancer, with which disease Mr. Tevis had been a constant sufferer for more than a year.

During the past week he was in an unconscious condition and his death had been unconsciously expected. Deceased, until a few months previous, was optimistic regarding his condition, but a visit to the most eminent physicians of Baltimore and other cities dispelled all hopes of ultimate recovery.

He was a son of Judge James Tevis and had been connected with the land and dry business in this city since a young boy. He was 41 years of age and was a member of Richmond Lodge of Elks, Knights of Pythias, Red Men and Lexington Lodge of Eagles. His body will be brought to this city today, Wednesday, and his funeral will be conducted at the First Presbyterian church by Rev. W. M. Eldridge, pastor of the Kirkville Presbyterian church, on arrival of the 11:40 L. & N. train.

The Richmond Lodge of Elks will have charge of the remains at the Cemetery, where they will be laid to rest by the side of his parents, who have been dead many years. Deceased is survived by three brothers—David and William, of Seattle, Wash., and Joseph Tevis, of Mexico.

Desperately Ill.

Mr. Lee Maupin, one of Madison county's widely known citizens, is desperately ill at the home of his daughter, near Waco, with little hope for his recovery. A MESSAGE TO WOMEN

Who Are "Just Ready to Drop."

When you are "just ready to drop," when you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, you need help.

Miss Lea Dumas writes from Malone, N. Y., saying: "I was in a badly run-down condition for several weeks but two bottles of Vinol put me on my feet again and made me strong and well. Vinol has done me more good than all the other medicines I ever took."

If the careworn, run-down women, the pale, sickly children and feeble old folks around here would follow Miss Dumas' example, they too, would soon be able to say that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy, had built them up and made them strong.

It is a wonderful, strength creator and body-builder, and we sell it under a guarantee of satisfaction. You get your money back if Vinol does not help you.

P. S. For any skin trouble try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Destiny of Population.

According to the Census Bureau, Rhode Island has 508.5 people to the square mile, thus leading the list of States in the matter of destiny of population. Massachusetts ranks second with 419.8 people to the square mile, and New Jersey 337.7. Connecticut at 231.3 and New York 191.2. Among those possessing more than 100 to the mile are Pennsylvania, 171; Maryland 120.3; Ohio, 117; Delaware, 103; and Illinois, 100.7. Nevada finds the lowest place in the scale of destiny, supplying only seven-tenths of a person to a mile. Wyoming is second from the end of the list, with one-half an individual to the mile, while Arizona stands third from the bottom, with 1.8. The following have fewer than 10 persons to the mile: Montana, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Oregon, South Dakota, Colorado and North Dakota. Washington takes the lead of all the States in the growth of destiny, advancing from 7.8 to 17.1 per square mile in the past ten years. Nebraska has 15.5 and Kansas 29.7. Oregon can boast of only 7 persons to the mile and California only 15.2. Idaho increased in ten years from 1.9 to 3.9, and Oklahoma from 1.1 to 23.9. The figures for the other States are: Indiana, 75.3; Kentucky, 57; Tennessee, 52.4; Virginia, 51.2; West Virginia, 50.8; South Carolina, 49.7; Michigan, 48.9; Missouri, 47.9; New Hampshire, 47.7; North Carolina, 45.3; Georgia, 44.4; Wisconsin, 42.2; Alabama, 41.7; Iowa, 40; Vermont, 39; Mississippi, 38.8; Louisiana, 36.5; Arkansas, 30; Minnesota, 25.7; Maine, 24.8; Texas, 14.8, and Florida, 13.7.

A REAL NERVE AND BODY-BUILDING MEDICINE.

We believe Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is the best remedy made for toning the nerves, enriching the blood, building up wasted tissues, renewing health, strength and energy—the best medicine you can use if you are run down, tired-out, nervous and debilitated, no matter what the cause. It doesn't depend for its good effect upon alcohol or habit-forming drugs because it contains none. It may not make you feel better in a few hours, but it will make you feel better, we are sure, just as soon as the tonic and food properties it contains have a chance to get into the blood, and through the blood, into the rest of the system. Pure Olive and the Hyp phosphates have long been endorsed by successful physicians, but here, for the first time, they are combined into one preparation which, as a nerve-food and a builder of strength and health, we believe, has no equal.

If you don't feel well, begin taking Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and build up your health and strengthen your system against more serious illness.

To convalescents, old people, puffy children and all others who are weak, run-down or ailing, we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with our personal promise that if it doesn't make you feel well and strong again, it will cost you nothing. If we didn't have the utmost faith in it, we wouldn't offer it with this guarantee, nor even recommend it to you. We are sure that once you have used it you will recommend it to your friends, and thank us for having recommended it to you. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by Dr. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.—Adv. mar.

BILLY VALADON'S SPECIAL

By C. HAUSMAN.

"I say," cried Billy, "wait for a fellow. My remittance will be along in a couple of days and we can all go east together."

Mabel Brockman laughed. "You're twenty-nine, aren't you, Billy?" she asked irrelevantly.

"In February," assented Valadon. "And you have to wait until your papa sends you money? I don't think you even call him 'father,' do you?"

Valadon looked hurt. "You are always at me to go to work," he frowned. "I don't see why I should have to with the governor so disgustingly rich."

"How much money have you?" she asked. Somehow her conversation this morning on the Coronado Beach was most uncertain.

"Enough to pay my bills and get up to San Francisco."

"Then you will have to wait until some one sends you the money to get home on. I don't think you are worth waiting for, Billy."

Two days later Valadon stood on the wharf at Oakland. Miss Brockman stood by the sleeper in which she and her mother were to make the trip east.

"I may see you sooner than you expect," he said with a smile.

"Having money telegraphed to you?" she asked.

"No," he answered shortly. "I have an idea that perhaps I can come east in accordance with your approved methods. I'm going to try it, anyhow."

"If you do, Bill," said the girl softly, she mounted the steps.

"If I do, what?"

Mabel shook her head over the porter's shoulder as the train pulled out.

Valadon took the boat back to the city, but instead of returning to the hotel he went to the Barbary Coast. In one of the dives sat a party of men, rough, uncouth and with a most evil smell of the stable about them. Billy went up to their leader.

"I'm ready now," he said.

"Stow the glad rags," commanded the other, "and come back here in half an hour. We don't want silk hats around."

Before the end of the half hour the silk hat and frock coat had been metamorphosed into a cloth cap and a pea jacket, and Billy was five dollars richer.

The leader marshaled the gang and an hour later Billy was back in Oakland, but this time in the freight yards.

On the track before him was a train of 12 yellow cars, at the head of which waited a huge engine. Billy climbed into the third car. There was much hoarse shouting, a blast from the whistle and a jolt as the train pulled out, and the first section of the horse special was under way.

Billy's fellow passengers in the car were another hostler and 12 thoroughbreds being hurried east to the big winter sale.

Five days later a tired and dirty, but exceedingly cheerful, young man drove up to the door of the Valadon residence on Fifth avenue just as the head of that house was sitting down to his breakfast. It required an argument with a new footman to convince him that the caller was not required to go to the side entrance, but at his voice the elder Valadon came running into the hall.

"Bless my soul," he puffed after Billy had told his tale in brief. "Didn't you get my check?"

Billy thrust a paper into his hand. "It came the day I left," he said, "but it sort of spoiled the idea and I pretended that I did not get it. Now I want a bath and breakfast and then I want to see if I cannot go down to the station in time to meet the Brockmans."

The Chicago express was three hours late when it puffed into the huge arched shed, and Miss Brockman was in no amiable frame of mind as she descended to the platform. There had been delay, and six days on the train even in a stateroom is not pleasant.

For a moment she stared at a well-groomed young man possessed himself of her handbag and turned to help her mother down the steps, and it was not until they had headed for the ferry that she found her voice.

"How did you get here so quickly?" she demanded.

"I came the northern way," he explained, "and I had a special."

Miss Brockman turned away to hide her disappointment. "I might have known you would do something like that," she said coldly. "I suppose that you wired for money."

"There was a check at the hotel when I got to San Francisco," he explained wickedly. "I had it in my pocket when I said 'good-by' to you in Oakland. I thought you would like a surprise."

"It was not a surprise; it was the expected," she corrected. "I had hoped my sermon had sunk in."

He made no explanations until they were in the carriage, which had waited at Twenty-third street. Then Billy leaned forward.

"I should have explained," he began, "that the special was for the Ora ranch horses for the sale at the garden. I was a hostler and I brought the check back with me."

She leaned forward and kissed him, to the surprise of her mother.

"Billy!" she cried impulsively, "you may take that check and buy me a toilette with it."

Will It Be a Benefit?

With the new insurance law in effect will the property owner who is compelled to purchase a policy be benefited?

That's the question. The insurance companies contend that they can not successfully operate in the State under this law and if they are sincere in this contention and cease to write risks, it will be unfortunate for the business interests of the State. Homes must be insured, commercial and industrial enterprises must be protected against loss by fire, or the credit of such institutions will be effectually impaired.

The insurance companies should receive fair treatment from the State and in turn the companies should establish just and equitable rates for the State.

If the hazard is no greater than it is in Indiana or States bordering on the Ohio river, Kentucky should not be required to pay more excessive rates than obtain in those States.

Our people are fair and reasonable and at all times are willing to apply the rule of "live and let live."—Owen sboro Enquirer.

A MESSAGE TO WOMEN

Who Are "Just Ready to Drop."

When you are "just ready to drop," when you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, you need help.

Miss Lea Dumas writes from Malone, N. Y., saying: "I was in a badly run-down condition for several weeks but two bottles of Vinol put me on my feet again and made me strong and well. Vinol has done me more good than all the other medicines I ever took."

If the careworn, run-down women, the pale, sickly children and feeble old folks around here would follow Miss Dumas' example, they, too, would soon be able to say that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy, had built them up and made them strong.

It is a wonderful, strength creator and body-builder, and we sell it under a guarantee of satisfaction. You get your money back if Vinol does not help you.

P. S. For any skin trouble try our Sazo Salve. We guarantee it.

Destiny of Population.

According to the Census Bureau, Rhode Island has 508.5 people to the square mile, thus leading the list of States in the matter of destiny of population. Massachusetts ranks second with 419.8 people to the square mile, and New Jersey 337.7. Connecticut 231.3 and New York 191.2. Among those possessing more than 100 to the mile are Pennsylvania, 171; Maryland 120.3; Ohio, 117; Delaware, 103 and Illinois, 100.7. Nevada finds the lowest place in the scale of destiny, supplying only seven-tenths of a person to a mile. Wyoming is second from this end of the list, with one-half an individual to the mile, while Arizona stands third from the bottom, with 1.8. The following have fewer than 10 persons to the mile: Montana, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Oregon, South Dakota, Colorado and North Dakota. Washington takes the lead of all the States in the growth of destiny, advancing from 7.8 to 17.1 per square mile in the past ten years. Nebraska has 15.5 and Kansas 29.7. Oregon can boast of only 7 persons to the mile and California only 15.2. Idaho increased in ten years from 1.9 to 3.9, and Oklahoma from 11.4 to 23.9. The figures for the other States are: Indiana, 55.3; Kentucky, 57; Tennessee, 52.4; Virginia, 51.2; West Virginia, 50.8; North Carolina, 49.7; Michigan, 48.9; Missouri, 47.9; New Hampshire, 47.7; North Carolina, 45.3; Georgia, 44.4; Wisconsin, 42.2; Alabama, 41.7; Iowa, 40; Vermont, 39; Mississippi, 38.8; Louisiana, 36.5; Arkansas, 30; Minnesota, 25.7; Maine, 24.8; Texas, 14.8, and Florida, 13.7.

Sentenced to The Pen.

Prof. E. D. Burton, chief witness for the prosecution in the case of former Superintendent of Schools Baxter, at Lawrenceburg, who was acquitted of the charge of selling questions in advance of teachers' examinations, Friday pleaded guilty to a similar charge and made an eloquent plea to the court for mercy. He was given an indeterminate sentence to the penitentiary of from two to five years. An effort will be made to secure a pardon for him.

Emigrate To Arkansas.

Mr. Hiram Lunsford, of West Irvine, with a number of his sons, daughters and relatives, numbering 35 men, women and children, left last week in a special car for Leslie City, Arkansas, near the place they expect to reside.

Mr. Lunsford is an old soldier and a highly respected citizen, as are the other members of his family. Their departure from Estill county is a source of regret and their friends wish them success and prosperity in their new home.

G. W. Lunsford, a brother of Hiram, is at the National Military Home, Leavenworth, Kan.—Irvine Sun.

Will It Be a Benefit?

With the new insurance law in effect will the property owner who is compelled to purchase a policy be benefited?

That's the question. The insurance companies contend that they can not successfully operate in the State under this law and if they are sincere in this contention and cease to write risks, it will be unfortunate for the business interests of the State. Homes must be insured, commercial and industrial enterprises must be protected against loss by fire, or the credit of such institutions will be effectively impaired.

The insurance companies should receive fair treatment from the State and in turn the companies should establish just and equitable rates for the State.

If the hazard is no greater than it is in Indiana or States bordering on the Ohio river, Kentucky should not be required to pay more excessive rates than obtain in those States.

Our people are fair and reasonable and at all times are willing to apply the rule of "live and let live."—Owenboro Enquirer.

CATARRH OF THE THROAT

Is Liable to Produce Catarrhal Deafness

CLARENCE BOWMAN.

A Case of Catarrhal Deafness.

Mrs. Wm. Bowman, R. F. D. 1, Coon Rapids, Iowa, writes: "Some time ago I wrote you about my little boy, Clarence, five years of age. He was troubled with his ears. They were very sensitive to the touch, and he was quite deaf at times. He seemed to be worse after catching cold. I had taken him to doctors, but they did not seem to be able to relieve him, and I was very much afraid he would lose his hearing entirely. He was getting more deaf every day. I wrote to you for advice, and you described Peruna. I began giving it to him, and can now say that he is entirely cured. He is now well and hearty and can hear perfectly."

Catarrh Causes Many Diseases. Many diseases are caused by taking cold. A cold is very likely to settle in the nose, causing nasal catarrh. It may settle in the upper part of the throat, called the nasal pharyngeal space. In this space are two little tubes called eustachian tubes, that lead to the middle ear.

If the catarrh settles in the pharyngeal space it may follow the mucous membrane through the eustachian tubes into the middle ear. If it does, it will cause noises in the ear, and later on to be sure to cause deafness. Catarrh of the throat may follow the eustachian tubes up into the middle ear without causing much concern on the part of the patient. The partial loss of hearing is apt to be overlooked. A person may lose half his hearing before he knows it.

For instance, suppose a man can hear his watch four feet from the ear. If he loses his hearing to the extent that he can only hear the tick of his watch two feet from the ear he may not suspect it at all. His hearing is good enough for ordinary purposes. He goes on without the slightest suspicion that he is losing his hearing. He may have ringing in the ear, or cracking and snapping sounds in the ear, or a feeling of pressure in the ear, but he is not aware that he is losing his hearing.

Testing the Hearing. It is a good thing to test your hearing with a watch. First hold the watch against your ear, then move it gradually away from the ear and see how far away from the watch you can actually hear it tick. Try it on the other side and see if both ears are alike. If you find that you are unable to hear the watch on both sides alike and at a distance of four feet from the ear, you may know that deafness has already begun. You should begin taking Peruna at once. Gargle the throat with cold, strong salt water, as directed in the "Tills of Life," sent free by Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. Persist in this treatment until a cure is effected.

The Best Way to Gargle. Sometimes catarrh of the nasal pharyngeal space will cause an accumulation of secretions in the throat, that completely fills the space. Unless these secretions are promptly removed by frequent gargling, polyp may be formed. Once formed the polyp or adenoids, as they are sometimes called, will require a long time with the gargling to remove. Gargling according to the proper method will sometimes remove polyp or adenoids, and no surgical operation is required.

In order to understand exactly what is meant by proper gargling send for a free copy of the "Tills of Life." During the whole course of gargling Peruna must be taken according to directions on the bottle.

People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

TASTY SHRIMP DISHES

EXCELLENT EITHER FOR LUNCHEON OR SUPPER.

Hostess Will Find These Greatly Appreciated by Her Guests—Novelty is to Have Them Cooked in Creole Style.

Here are some shrimp dishes that would prove acceptable for luncheon and supper:

Shrimp salad can be made in a good many ways, and all of them are good. The shrimps can be broken in flakes and mixed with an equal portion of hard-boiled eggs that have been put through a ricer. They then can be dressed either with mayonnaise or with French dressing. Just the shrimp alone can be served on lettuce with either kind of dressing.

Another good salad calls for a cup of shrimps, cut in small pieces; half a cup of celery hearts diced small, and seasoning of pepper and salt. These ingredients should be mixed with half a cupful of mayonnaise and placed in a bed of white lettuce leaves. Garnish this salad with eightths of hard-boiled eggs, capers and olives.

Another good combination is shrimps and chilled, sliced tomatoes, served with mayonnaise on lettuce.

For salad, shrimps should be chilled through and thoroughly dry. Any imperfect ones, of course, should be discarded, and the little dark vein that is sometimes noticeable in the shrimp can be removed for a salad of the finest quality.

Croustades of shrimps and rice are delicious. The croustades, or shells, can be made from boiled rice, seasoned with salt and pepper, and heated in a double boiler with a beaten egg, and, if necessary for moistening, a little cream. This mixture should be formed into little cases. It can be molded in tea-cups by patting it around the sides of the cups.

The shrimp filling is made from white sauce, made with a tablespoonful of butter, the same amount of flour and a cupful of milk cooked smooth, the beaten yolks of two eggs and half a cup of shrimps pounded to a paste. Stir over the fire until the eggs thicken, and pour in the rice cases. The same filling can be put in pate shells.

This is the way to cook shrimps in the creole style: Fry half an onion and a clove of garlic, chopped, in four tablespoonfuls of butter, but do not brown them. Then add a cup of canned or other cooked shrimps, a cup of French peas and salt and red pepper to taste. Cook over hot water for 15 minutes, in a double boiler or in a chafing dish.

Dunbar shrimps are made in this way: Into the blazer of a chafing dish or the top part of a double boiler put a dash of salt, some cayenne pepper, two scant teaspoonfuls of sauce and two cups of cream—the thicker the better. When it is hot add two hard-boiled eggs, chopped fine, and two cups of shrimps. Let the mixture reach the boiling point and serve at once.

Shrimps can also be used to garnish many vegetable salads. They give just the right pungency and character to salads that otherwise might somewhat lack character and individuality. Green peppers, for instance, can be stuffed with celery and boiled rice, mixed with mayonnaise, and each set in a white lettuce leaf, on which there are four or five shrimps, to make a most interesting salad.

Canton Stew. Put two cups finely shredded cabbage in enough water to boil and let cook slowly until tender, which should be in about three-quarters of an hour. When the cabbage has been cooking one-half an hour add one cup milk and when it is nearly done put in two cups milk. Let boil up once, then season with salt and pepper and pour in a hot dish in which should be put one teaspoon butter. If you like oyster crackers served with milk stew you can use them with this soup, which greatly resembles oyster stew in flavor.

Jars for Supplies. Glass preserve jars for keeping groceries in will be found most useful. They are easily cleaned, neat to look at, and the contents are seen at a glance, so one knows when the supplies are running low. It is well to paste a label on each one then there will be no danger of using a wrong article. Such things as tea, coffee, rice, tapioca, raisins, currants, cream of tartar, powdered sugar, salt, etc., may be kept clean and fresh in these jars.

About the Gas Stove. I have discovered an excellent way to keep the gas stove new looking and to prevent its rusting. I pass it on to others. After using the gas stove for baking leave the oven door open until the oven is entirely cooled off—New York Press.

Keeping Yolks of Eggs. Yolks of eggs which are not wanted for immediate use if kept in the following manner will remain fresh for several days: Drop them into cold water and keep in a cool place.

Sugar in Starch. When making starch, add one tablespoonful of sugar after it boils. The clothes will be much easier to iron, and the iron will not stick.

MEMORIES ALWAYS WITH US

Pleasant or Otherwise, There is No Possible Way of Banishing Them From One's Life.

"A single strain of memory's softly singing music—one sympathetic chord that touches us, and the floodgates of the past turn wide and loose the torrent that would overwhelm us."

Shadows of memory—flitting across the heart like birds in flight passing—catching the flicker of wandering moonbeams, fading again into grayness of shadow.

Do you believe in fairies? Do you believe in Goblins? Do you believe the fireflies light the street lamps in the evening?

Memories are but fairies older grown that play within the garden of the heart when twilight shadows gather round about, and darkness settles over all.

Memories that bless and bring a smile to lips long since grown grave. Memories that bless and bring a tear to eyes unused to flow.

Memories that burn and sear the heart, and open wide the wounds of yesterday.

There are no ghosts save those that walk in the graveyard of memory. The bitter drop within the cup at close of day is to know that that which we have left undone has caused another pain.

Close the heart to the voice of memory as we may—it ever stalks behind us as a record that will bless or burn.

Today we make the memories of tomorrow. If we but solve life's problem to the best of our ability—clear of mind, clean of heart, forgetting not the little things that make the roadway rough to those that walk beside us on the path—the memories will bless, not burn—each little love will light its lamp to cheer and guide us through the dark.—Rose Potter.

MANY ODD MAKES OF SHOES

Interesting to Note the Evolution of Footwear Through Its Centuries of Use.

In the ninth and tenth centuries the greatest princes of Europe wore wooden shoes. In the reign of William Rufus of England in the eleventh century a great dude, "Robert the Horned," used shoes with sharp points studded with tow and pointed like ram's horns. The Romans made use of two kinds of shoes, the solea or sandal, which covered the sole of the foot and which was worn at home or in company, and the calceus, which covered the whole foot and was always worn with the toga when one went abroad.

Greek shoes were peculiar in reaching to the middle of the leg. Slippers were in use before Shakespeare's time and were originally made of rights and lefts. Shoes among the Jews were made of leather, linen, rush or wool; soldiers' shoes were usually made of brass or iron. In the reign of Richard II, shoes were of such absurd length as to be required to be tied to the knee with chains sometimes made of gold or silver.

In 1463 the English parliament took the matter in hand and passed an act forbidding shoes with spikes more than two inches in length being worn or manufactured. The present fashion in shoes was introduced into England in 1633.

The Tangerine.

When the tangerine orange was first introduced into China, it was so highly esteemed that it was given as a gift to the mandarins, and hence became known as the mandarin orange. Our tangerine is simply a descendant of the ancient mandarin orange.

In the last few years there seems to have been a falling off in the popularity of these dainty, little glove oranges, as they used to be called. Possibly it is because the modern, navel orange, with its sweetness and delightful flavor, is so plentiful.

Even so, the appetizing little tangerine ought to have a bigger place than it has at present. It would seem that the very fact that the tangerine skin peels off so readily would insure its popularity. But there are fashions in food, as well as in clothes, and the wheel of fashion revolves from time to time. Perhaps when bustles are in again the tangerine will be a daily visitor to our tables.

His Tender Spot.

As a certain young artist of New York sat upon his stool on day in the Adirondacks doing a bit of "mountain stuff" there approached him from the rear a native, evidently with ideas of his own touching art.

"Did you ever try photography?" asked the newcomer.

"No," was the curt response of the young artist, who continued his work.

"It's a good deal quicker," suggested the native.

"I suppose it is," surely assented the painter, with another dab of the brush.

"And," the native added, with a dash of malice, "a good deal more like the place."—Lippincott's.

The Complainant—It's because my former husband sends it to me by a lawyer, and the lawyer charges me car fare, brokerage, transportation and time, and that leaves only 90 cents.

Sincerity And Tact.

If I were to suggest the two most desirable qualities for a woman to possess they would be sincerity and tact.

Sincerity in great and small matters, and tact in everything.

Sincerity does not mean brutality, nor does tact mean deception.

Sincerity means absolute honesty and tact means the sugar coat which renders that honesty palatable to one's friends.

Yet white blackbirds are not so rare as sincere human beings. Night after night, and day after day, I hear people applaud and cry "Bravo!" at the performance of some reader, singer or instrumental musician; and I hear them immediately afterwards turn to one another and say, "How dreadful!" or "What a dreadful performance!"

If asked why they applauded, they tell you they are so tenderhearted they do not like to hurt the feelings of the artist or their hostess who had provided the entertainment.

They do not seem to realize that they could keep quiet and avoid any expression of opinion, or that by quickly starting some other topic of conversation after the recitation or song was done their failure to applaud might pass without causing remark. That is where tact comes in.

Many people think they must, as they express it, "always say what I think."

Now, it is not at all important that we should all say whatever we believe, but it is important that we should believe whatever we say.

The sincere person must, if he speaks, speak truth. The tactful person knows how to keep quiet and how to divert people's attention from his silence when he cannot say what he thinks without being brutal.

When you applaud what you do not consider good work, or compliment what you do not admire, you are simply making yourself a liar; nothing else.

A lady said to me recently, speaking of the wife of a prominent man: "I do not like her, but I do not want her for an enemy. She is trying to strike up an intimacy with me but I will not have it. However, I am showing great tact. You know she is a coarse, vulgar woman, but I tell her she is so beautiful and fascinating, and I have flattered her into an amiable state of mind, so she will not be antagonized by my refusal of her invitations."

There is never any excuse for such insincere methods. They react on the person who employs them and bring about more trouble than they temporarily avert.

A tactful and sincere woman could find ways of avoiding an undesirable intimacy without making dishonest, insincere speeches, for the false flattery to which the speaker alluded, was nothing less than dishonest.

Association with a vulgar woman could not lead to such disaster as my friend invited when she allows untruthfulness to undermine her character.

Insincerity is like a rat in a wall; if left to do its work the wall eventually crumbles.

In this day of progressive women most of us are constantly asked for our opinion regarding the numerous "artists" who seek to win the public ear and dollar.

I once knew a bright girl with a fine musical taste and a very kind heart and
